IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

AUGUST 1, 2012

Mr. CARNAHAN (for himself, Mr. BERMAN, Ms. SCHAKOWSKY, Mr. VAN HOLLEN, Ms. EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON of Texas, Ms. TSONGAS, Mrs. MALONEY, Ms. SPEIER, Mr. MURPHY of Connecticut, Mr. MORAN, Mr. CONYERS, Mr. McGOVERN, Ms. PINGREE of Maine, and Ms. LEE of California) introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, and in addition to the Committee on Armed Services, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned

A BILL

To ensure that the United States promotes women's meaningful inclusion and participation in mediation and negotiation processes undertaken in order to prevent, mitigate, or resolve violent conflict and implements the United States National Action Plan on Women, Peace, and Security.

1       Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2       tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

1 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE; TABLE OF CONTENTS.

2       (a) SHORT TITLE.—This Act may be cited as the
3     “Women, Peace, and Security Act of 2012”.

4       (b) TABLE OF CONTENTS.—The table of contents for 5     this Act is as follows:

See. 1. Short title; table of contents.
Sec. 2. Findings.
Sec. 3. Definitions.
Sec. 4. Sense of Congress regarding the National Action Plan on Women,
Peace, and Security.
Sec. 5. Statement of United States policies.
Sec. 6. National Action Plan on Women, Peace, and Security.
Sec. 7. Monitoring and evaluating.
Sec. 8. Engaging women in the full range of conflict prevention, peace negotiation, peace-building, and security initiatives.
Sec. 9. National Security Council.
Sec. 10. Consultations with nongovernmental and private sector stakeholders.
Sec. 11. Reports to Congress.

6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

7     Congress finds the following:

8           (1) United Nations Security Council Resolution
9     1325, and subsequent Resolutions 1820, 1888,
10    1889, and 1960, affirm the critical role of women in 11   the prevention and resolution of conflicts, including 12   in—

13           (A) conflict prevention;
14           (B) peace negotiations;
15           (C) peacekeeping and peace-building ef-
16   forts;

17           (D) humanitarian response; and
18           (E) post-conflict reconstruction and gov-
19   ernance.

1                             (2) Fundamental to the affirmations described
2                             in paragraph (1) is the full and equal participation
3                             of women as planners, implementers, and bene-
4                             ficiaries in all efforts to achieve solutions for just 5                             conflict resolution, lasting stability, and inclusive
6                             democratic governance.

7                             (3) The meaningful inclusion of women in the 8                             prevention and resolution of conflicts also requires 9                             engaging men and boys in the effort to empower 10                            women and girls and educating them on the uni-
11                            versal benefits of gender equality.

12                           (4) During the second half of the 20th century,
13                            approximately 25 percent of conflicts that had ended 14                            in a peace agreement resumed within 5 years, and 15                            nearly 50 percent of the conflicts resolved by an ac-
16                            cord during the 1990s resumed within 5 years.

17                           (5) Since 1992, women have accounted for 18                            fewer than 3 percent of mediators and 8 percent of 19                            negotiators in major peace processes.

20                           (6) Successful peace negotiations that produce 21                            just and sustainable peace agreements generally in-22                            clude robust mechanisms for the participation of 23                            civil society, such as a national dialogue.

24                           (7) From Guatemala to Darfur to Northern 25                            Ireland, women have made major contributions to

1 peace negotiations, helping to ensure that processes
2 were more transparent and that the content of final
3 agreements was more comprehensive, more responsive
4 to root causes of conflict, and more sustainable.

5 (8) The United States May 2010 National Security Strategy states, “Experience shows that countries are more peaceful and prosperous when women
6 are accorded full and equal rights and opportunity.
7 When those rights and opportunities are denied,
8 countries often lag behind.”.

9 (9) According to the 2010 Quadrennial Diplomacy and Development Review, “The protection and 10 empowerment of women and girls is key to the foreign policy and security of the United States. . . .
11 To that end, women are at the center of our diplomacy and development efforts—not simply as beneficiaries,
12 but also as agents of peace, reconciliation,
13 development, growth, and stability. . . . By reaching 14 out to women and girls and integrating them into 15 our diplomatic mission, we ensure more effective diplomacy, whether in driving economic growth, resisting
16 extremism, safeguarding human rights, or promoting political solutions, including in areas of conflict.”.

(B) announced the United States commitment to develop a United States National Action Plan to accelerate the implementation of Resolution 1325, joining more than 25 other countries that had committed to developing national action plans.

19                   (11) The United States National Action Plan
20       on Women, Peace, and Security, issued December
21       2011—

(A) asserts that “evidence from around the world and across cultures shows that integrating women and gender considerations into

1 peace-building processes helps promote democratic governance and long-term stability”;

3 (B) “describes the course the United States Government will take to accelerate, institutionalize, and better coordinate our efforts to advance women’s inclusion in peace negotiations, peace-building activities, and conflict prevention; to protect women from sexual and gender-based violence; and to ensure equal access to relief and recovery assistance, in areas of conflict and insecurity.”; and

10
11 (C) affirms as a Statement of National Policy that “the engagement and protection of women as agents of peace and stability will be central to the United States efforts to promote security, prevent, respond to, and resolve conflict, and rebuild societies.”.

12
14
15
16
17
18 (12) In March 2012, the United States Agency for International Development (USAID) released a new, agency-wide Gender Equality and Female Empowerment Policy, the first such policy since 1982. According to this policy, “Gender equality and female empowerment are core development objectives, fundamental for the realization of human rights and key to effective and sustainable development out-

1       comes. No society can develop successfully without
2       providing equitable opportunities, resources, and life
3       prospects for males and females so that they can
4       shape their own lives and contribute to their families
5       and communities.”.

6                     (13) In March 2012, Secretary of State Hillary
7       Rodham Clinton issued the first ever Secretarial Pol-
8       icy Guidance on Promoting Gender Equality to 9       Achieve our National Security and Foreign Policy
10      Objectives, which “requests embassies and bureaus
11      to work to . . . draw on the full contributions of 12      both women and men in peacemaking, peacekeeping,
13      and peace building”. The Policy Guidance highlights
14      3 mechanisms that will be utilized “to promote gen-
15      der equality in service of America’s foreign policy”, 16      namely—

17                     (A) planning and budget development;
18                     (B) programming, monitoring and evalua-
19                     tion; and
20                     (C) management and training.

21                     (14) In Afghanistan, women leaders in civil so-
22       ciety continue to demand a full and meaningful role
23       at any future negotiations, particularly where deci-
24       sions will be made about the futures of Afghan 25       women and girls.

13                             unions, relief or development organizations,
14                             community and faith-based organizations, phil-
15                             anthropic foundations, and tribal leaders or 16                             structures;

17                                 (C) independent media, educational, or re-18                             search institutions; and

19                                 (D) private enterprises, including inter-
20                             national development firms, banks, and other fi-
21                             nancial institutions, and particularly small busi-
22                             nesses and businesses owned by women or dis-
23                             advantaged groups.

24                             (7) WOMEN’S MEANINGFUL INCLUSION AND 25                             PARTICIPATION.—The term “women’s meaningful

1 inclusion and participation” means ensuring women
2 have safe, genuine, and effective access to be present
3 and actively involved in the full range of decision-
4 making processes, which may include—
5 (A) conflict prevention;
6 (B) mediation or negotiation efforts to re-
7 solve, mitigate and transition from violent con-
8 flict;
9 (C) peacekeeping and peace-building ef-
10 forts;
11 (D) post-conflict reconstruction, transition
12 initiatives, and governance; and
13 (E) humanitarian response.

14 SEC. 4. SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING THE NATIONAL
15 ACTION PLAN ON WOMEN, PEACE, AND SECU-
16 RITY.

17 It is the sense of Congress that—
18 (1) the implementation of the United States
19 National Action Plan on Women, Peace, and Secu-
20 rity (referred to in this section as the “NAP”) is 21 paramount in improving the lives of women around
22 the world and increasing overall global stability and 23 prosperity;
24 (2) Congress supports the statement in the 25 NAP of the United States “unqualified commitment

1 to integrating women’s views and perspectives fully
2 into our diplomatic, security, and development ef-
3 forts—not simply as beneficiaries, but as agents of 4 peace, reconciliation, development, growth, and sta-
5 bility’’;

6 (3) Congress is strongly committed to advanc-
7 ing the principles of the NAP, as instituted by Exec-
8 utive Order 13595 on December 19, 2011;

9 (4) the United States should coordinate with 10 the international community and civil society to de-
11 velop criteria for eligibility to ensure that appro-
12 priate women representatives with the requisite ex-
13 perience are identified for inclusion;

14 (5) Congress supports the goals and ideals out-
15 lined in the NAP;

16 (6) the President, in coordination with the Sec-
17 retary, the Secretary of Defense, and the Adminis-
18 trator, should—

19 (A) ensure the NAP’s robust, transparent,
20 comprehensive, and coordinated implemen-
21 tation; and

22 (B) coordinate with the international com-
23 munity to reaffirm global commitments to im-
24 plementation of United Nations Security Coun-
25 cil Resolution 1325 and subsequent Resolutions

1           1880, 1888, 1889, and 1960, utilizing the com-
2           mitments outlined in the NAP as a diplomatic 3           means to encourage other nations to—
4                 (i) advance women's inclusion in peace
5                 negotiations, peace-building activities, and 6                 conflict prevention;
7                 (ii) protect women from sexual and 8                 gender-based violence; and 9                 (iii) ensure equal access to relief and 10                 recovery assistance in areas of conflict and 11                 insecurity.

12 SEC. 5. STATEMENT OF UNITED STATES POLICIES.

13           (a) IN GENERAL.—It is the policy of the United
14 States to implement the United States National Action
15 Plan on Women, Peace, and Security, as instituted by Ex-
16 ecutive Order 13595 on December 19, 2011, to ensure
17 that the United States effectively promotes and supports
18 women in conflict-affected and post-conflict regions
19 through clear, measurable commitments—

20                 (1) to promote the active and meaningful par-
21                 ticipation of women in affected areas in all aspects 22                 of conflict prevention, management, and resolution;
23                 (2) to integrate the perspectives and interests
24                 of affected women into conflict-prevention activities
25                 and strategies;

(3) to promote the physical safety, economic security, and dignity of women and girls;

(4) to support women's equal access to aid distribution mechanisms and services; and

(5) to monitor, analyze, and evaluate implementation efforts and the impact of such efforts.

7 (b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—Congress—

8                   (1) recognizes the invaluable contributions that
9                   United States and international civil society groups
10                  have made to United States policies and programs
11                  on women, peace, and security; and

17           (c) INTEGRATION.—The Secretary and the Adminis-
18 trator should—

19 (1) integrate gender as fully as applicable into 20 all diplomatic and development efforts:

21                   (2) include gender in strategic and budget plan-
22                   ning processes; and

23 (3) continue to use and improve upon performance indicators and evaluation mechanisms to account for ongoing results and measure the impact of

1       United States policies and programs on women and
2       girls in foreign countries.

3           (d) INTEGRATION OF GENDER GOALS IN AGENCY
4       GUIDANCE AND ACQUISITION REGULATIONS.—

5           (1) DEPARTMENT OF STATE.—The Secretary
6       shall modify the following:

7               (A) Department of State guidance to re-
8       flect the gender goals set forth in the NAP.

9               (B) Department of State Acquisition Regu-
10       lation set forth in chapter 6 of title 48, Code
11       of Federal Regulations, to reflect the gender
12       goals set forth in the NAP.

13           (2) AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOP-
14       MENT.—The Administrator shall modify the fol-
15       lowing:

16               (A) Agency for International Development
17       guidance to reflect the gender goals set forth in 18       the NAP.

19               (B) Agency for International Development
20       Acquisition Regulation set forth in chapter 7 of 21       title 48, Code of Federal Regulations, to reflect
22       the gender goals set forth in the NAP.

23           (e) TENETS.—The head of each agency of the Fed-
24       eral Government shall ensure, as appropriate, that the te-

- 1 nets of the NAP are incorporated into all programs ad-
- 2 ministered by such agency related to—

10 SEC. 6. NATIONAL ACTION PLAN ON WOMEN, PEACE, AND 11 SECURITY.

12       (a) IMPLEMENTATION.—The Secretary, the Adminis-
13 trator, the Secretary of Defense, and representatives of 14 other Federal agencies, as appropriate, should implement
15 the NAP.

16 (b) TRAINING.—

17                             (1) IN GENERAL.—In implementing the NAP
18 under this section, the individuals referred to in sub-
19 section (a) shall ensure that all relevant Federal em-
20 ployees receive appropriate training on gender con-
21 siderations and women's meaningful inclusion and 22 participation, including training regarding—

(A) conflict prevention, peace processes, and security initiatives;

4 (C) protecting civilians from violence, ex-
5 ploitation, and trafficking in persons.

6 (2) AMENDMENTS.—

11        "(e) The Secretary, in conjunction with the Adminis-
12 trator of the United States Agency for International De-
13 velopment, should ensure that all appropriate personnel,
14 including special envoys, members of mediation or negotia-
15 tion teams, relevant members of the Civil Service or For-
16 eign Service, and contractors responsible for, or deploying
17 to, countries or regions considered to be at risk of, under-
18 going, or emerging from violent conflict, obtain sub-
19 stantive knowledge and skills through—

“(1) appropriate advanced training in conflict prevention, mitigation, and resolution that specifically addresses the importance of women’s meaningful inclusion and participation (as defined in section 3 of the Women, Peace, and Security Act of 2012); and

1               “(2) receive training on effective strategies and 2               best practices for ensuring women’s meaningful in-
3               clusion and participation, as so defined.”.

4               (B) TITLE 10, UNITED STATES CODE.—
5               Chapter 107 of title 10, United States Code, is 6               amended—

7               (i) by redesignating section 2157 as 8               section 2158;
9               (ii) by inserting after section 2156 the 10               following new section:

11       “§ 2157. Training for ensuring women’s meaningful 12               inclusion and participation”

13               “The Secretary of Defense shall ensure that all ap-
14               propriate personnel, including members of the armed 15               forces, members of mediation or negotiation teams, rel-
16               evant members of the Civil Service, and contractors re-
17               sponsible for, or deploying to, countries or regions consid-
18               ered to be at risk of, undergoing, or emerging from violent
19               conflict, obtain substantive knowledge and skills
20               through—

21               “(1) appropriate advanced training in conflict
22               prevention, mitigation, and resolution that specifi-
23               cally addresses the importance of women’s meaning-
24               ful inclusion and participation (as defined in section

1       3 of the Women, Peace, and Security Act of 2012);
2       and

3               “(2) training on effective strategies and best
4       practices for ensuring women’s meaningful inclusion
5       and participation (as defined in such section).”; and 6                       (iii) in the chapter analysis, by strik-
7       ing the item relating to section 2157 and 8       inserting the following:

“2157. Training for ensuring women’s meaningful inclusion and participation.
“2158. Annual report to Congress.”.

9               (3) UNITED NATIONS.—The Secretary is
10      strongly encouraged to work with the United Na-
11      tions and the international community to promote 12      training that provides international peacekeeping
13      personnel with substantive knowledge and skills 14      needed to effectively ensure women’s meaningful in-
15      clusion and participation.

16 SEC. 7. MONITORING AND EVALUATING.

17       (a) IN GENERAL.—The implementation of the NAP
18 under section 6 should include the establishment or im-
19 provement of monitoring and evaluation tools to ensure 20 accountability and effectiveness of policies, programs,
21 projects, and activities undertaken to support the objec-
22 tives set forth in the NAP.

23       (b) FOREIGN ASSISTANCE COORDINATION, PLAN-
24 NING, DATA COLLECTION, AND TRACKING SYSTEMS.—

- 1     The Secretary and the Administrator, in consultation with
- 2     the Secretary of Defense, as appropriate, should—
  - 3         (1) utilize appropriate foreign assistance coordi-
  - 4         nation, planning, data collection, and tracking sys-
  - 5         tems to—
    - 6             (A) analyze the impact of staff training,
    - 7             management systems and organizational struc-
    - 8             tures on program results;
    - 9             (B) improve collection of sex-disaggregated
    - 10             data in conflict-affected areas;
    - 11             (C) ensure proper targeting of programs;
    - 12             and
    - 13             (D) develop and enhance early warning
    - 14             systems of conflict and violence;
  - 15         (2) support budgeting, operational and pro-
  - 16         grammatic planning, and performance management,
  - 17         related to women's meaningful inclusion and partici-
  - 18         pation; and
  - 19         (3) develop or improve upon existing data col-
  - 20         lection mechanisms that—
    - 21             (A) track and report progress on the objec-
    - 22             tives set forth in the NAP;
    - 23             (B) assess lessons learned; and
    - 24             (C) identify best practices.

1       (c) EVALUATION INDICATORS.—The Secretary and
2 the Administrator, in cooperation with the Secretary of
3 Defense, as appropriate, shall identify common indicators
4 to evaluate the impact of United States foreign assistance
5 on women's meaningful inclusion and participation.

6 SEC. 8. ENGAGING WOMEN IN THE FULL RANGE OF CON-

7                   FLICT PREVENTION, PEACE NEGOTIATION,
8                   PEACE-BUILDING, AND SECURITY INITIA-
9                   TIVES.

10       (a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary and the Adminis-
11 trator should work to facilitate women's meaningful inclu-
12 sion and participation in informal and formal peace nego-
13 tiations, including, as appropriate by—

14               (1) providing technical assistance, training and 15               logistical support to female negotiators, peace build-16               ers, and stakeholders;

17               (2) utilizing technology, such as cell phones or 18               social media tools, that assist the work of orga-
19               nizers, negotiators, communicators, peace builders,
20               and other civil society actors;

21               (3) addressing security-related barriers to wom-
22               en's participation;

23               (4) expanding emphasis on gender analysis to 24               improve program design and targeting; and

(5) supporting appropriate local organizations, especially women's peace-building organizations.

3       (b) COORDINATION.—The Secretary is encouraged to 4 promote women's meaningful inclusion and participation
5 in coordination and consultation with international part-
6 ners, including multilateral organizations, stakeholders,
7 and other relevant international organizations, particu-
8 larly in circumstances in which direct engagement is not 9 appropriate or advisable.
